Meet and connect with fellow young professionals during this year's Deutscher Luft- und Raumfahrtkongress (DLKR 2024) in Hamburg, Germany. Participate in a guided tour of the nearby fab at Nexperia. Join us for our social event afterwards, which includes an exciting tour of the harbor.

All who are still enrolled as students at a University, who work as research assistants in academia or have already acquired a few years of work experience in the industry are hereby invited to participate in this networking event organized by the IEEE German EMC Chapter and IEEE Young Professionals Germany. In order to register before 01. September 2024, please send an email with the reference "2024 Young Professionals Event in Hamburg" (see sidebar on the left) and tell us if you are joining for the visit to Nexperia, the harbor tour, or both. For future reference and convenience, we also ask you to share your name and your institution.
